

Partial government shutdown continues

By Trish King

Oneida Nation Treasurer

As we have previously communicated, the Oneida Business Committee and Office of the Treasurer, have been monitoring the events and issues that surround the partial federal government shutdown. We first provided you a notice on December 21st, prior to the holidays, that we were on watch for a partial shutdown in the federal government. We later advised the partial shutdown occurred. This is now our 3rd update advising you of how the issue is unfolding and status as it applies to the Oneida Nation.

da Business Committee to work with the Tribe's Chief Finance Officer and managers to create a budget contingency plan for the purpose of providing a strategy for how the Tribe will respond to extreme financial distress that could negatively impact the Oneida Nation, such as a federal shutdown. The Budget Contingency Plan establishes guidelines and a systematic response to financial distress and conditions that impact Oneida's fiscal health. Each of the Tribe's programs and services are required to have a Budget Contingency Plan

Purcell Powless scholarship finds renewed purpose

The year was 1988 and Purcell Powless was nearing the end of a political career that saw him serve as Oneida Nation Chairman and Vice-Chairman for more than two decades. Powless, who was so instrumental in helping lay the foundation for the economic success the tribe sees today, was not done giving to his fellow Oneidas.

"My father was concerned that graduate students didn't have the resources to help advance them into a master's degree or PhD," Bobbi Webster, Powless' daughter, said. "He realized there was a need for funding in that area so he focused a scholarship with specific guidelines on how it was to be used for students pursuing careers in economic development at the time. This was in the 1980s when there was a great need for tribal members to have business minds and the skills to help us expand our businesses."

Powless generously donated a portion of his Chairman's salary into a trust fund to be used by post graduate students on a perpetual basis. "It will benefit those tribal members who are attempting to advance their education," Powless wrote to the Oneida Business Committee at the time. "Ultimately this advance study will benefit our tribe. It is only through such education that we will continue to grow and improve our business sophistication and economic condition."

"My father's dream was to see our Oneidas running our businesses and advancing our economic development opportunities on and around the reservation," Webster said. "Since that time things have changed and there hasn't been quite the need for education with that specific focus. So, we've been working with the Higher Education De-

Two friends are making their dreams reality by opening their new store Steals N Deals at 824 South Broadway in Green Bay.

Darlene Longcore and Debra Cornelius had different starts on their retail journeys. Longcore had a stand at the weekly Oneida Farmer's Market selling homemade candles. Cornelius had lost her daughter Ashley Lasee in June.

"All her stuff went to her siblings and from there it went on to rummage sales," said Cornelius.

The rummage sales turned out to be popular and profitable, according to Longcore.

"I had a rummage just before her, and I made quite a bit of money. I was like 'man, this is kind of easy,'" said Longcore. "We pooled it in her garage, and we were getting regular customers asking 'Are you going to be open next weekend?' ... Well, why not?"

It was in Cornelius' garage the thought of opening a store took hold.

"As we sat there having our rummage sale, we always talked about a shop. She talked about a shop, and I talked about dreams that my daughter and I had," said Cornelius. "One day I happened to drive past this store and saw the for-rent sign, and brought her here, and glanced in the window and 'this is perfect,' we said, perfect!"

Steals N Deals specializes in home interior and unique items as well as clothing and craft items.

"I specialize in candles, and they can order from me if they want to have a certain scent," said Longcore. "A lot of the locals around here really enjoy having a little shop right here because some don't have vehicles, or much money to buy stuff."

The duo painted and decorated the new store, but also had help from friends and family.

"So many people when we were telling them we were opening a store, they would just donate more stuff to us 'oh, it's so cool that you're doing that,'" said Longcore.

"It was like it was meant to be for us," said Cornelius.

Longcore attributes some of her drive to succeed to her dedication to sober living.

"I'm very proud that I'm a recovering alcoholic and I've been sober for ten years, and things can change in your life to make it better. For people out there who struggle with that, there is hope, and you can still move forward," she said. Cornelius stated that she has been alcohol free for a year.

Steals N Deals is open 11:00am to 5:00pm Tuesday through Saturday, though they plan to stay open longer on Saturdays if there's a special event.

"We hope that word of mouth will get us out there, come visit us," said Cornelius.

Comprehensive Health accredited

The Oneida Nation Comprehensive Health Public Health Department was formally recognized during the January 9 Oneida Business Committee (OBC) meeting. The department received notification of accreditation by the Public Health Accreditation Board for a period of five years. Accreditation is a process that measures the performance of state, tribal, territorial, and local health departments against national public health standards for the delivery of quality programs and services for their communities.

CMN Take Part in International 'Tiny Earth' Initiative

College of Menominee Nation Professor Lucy Fenzl and CMN students Gavin Braun and Tyrell Hesse (L-R) pause at the students' research poster on display at the 2018 Tiny Earth symposium held in Green Bay.

GREEN BAY, Wisc. ~ For two College of Menominee Nation (CMN) students, fall semester 2018 wrapped up with a statewide symposium highlighting Wisconsin's participation in "Tiny Earth," an international initiative involving nearly 10,000 students worldwide in antibiotics research.

The CMN men, Gavin Braun, a Natural Resources major from Keshena, and Tyrell Hesse, a Biological and Physical Sciences student from Shawano, were among collegians, faculty and staff from several Wisconsin colleges and universities taking part in the Dec. 7 event. Special recognition for Braun and Hesse included selection of their soil microbe research poster for fifth place honors among 57 entries and an invitation to Braun to address the symposium audience on behalf of all student participants.

At the College of Menominee Nation, "Tiny Earth" curriculum and protocols are used in the General Biology and Microbiology courses of Professor Lucy Fenzl. "We are excited to be the first tribal college invited to join the initiative and begin using the curriculum," Fenzl says. "Having CMN as part of this international network of faculty members and college students is energizing and brings us really exciting resources. It is a wonderful opportunity for all students to join in finding solutions for the real-world health problem of antibiotic-resistant superbugs."

CMN's "Tiny Earth" participation also dovetails with ongoing applied science in CMN's Sustainable Development

Institute (SDI). In his address to the December symposium audience, Gavin Braun credited "Tiny Earth" with opening up opportunities for students in the College's science labs to also collaborate on SDI's campus-based Phenology Trail climate research. "Tiny Earth" lab work contributes "by adding data on soil bacteria found at each plant research site," Braun said. "This will enhance the longitudinal data already being collected and serve to address added variables in the research."

For students, Braun added, "Tiny Earth" research has given "a new experience in the labs that opened our eyes to new or different fields of interest. It also gave us a new opportunity to experience

Evan Danforth, right, was the first Thunderhawk player to pass the ball to a Coleman player with autism so he could make a basket at a January 8 game at the Oneida Nation Elementary School.

Sportsmanship was on display when the Oneida Thunderhawks JV boys team took on Coleman January 8. Coleman parent Leah Forner shared the story in an email to the Oneida Nation High School (ONHS).

"I attended a basketball game last night hosted by your school. I wanted to give you some positive feedback to something I witnessed. We have a student with Autism on our JV team. At the end of each game he gets a short amount of playing time and all of our boys try to get him the ball. Oneida boys sensed what was happening and also allowed this student to have the ball. This student was able to make a basket right at the buzzer. Not only did our fan section stand and cheer, but your fan section also stood and cheered for him. Throughout our conference I have only seen this happen at your school. The smile on the student's face was priceless. Way to go Oneida!"

ONHS Principal Artley Skenandore shared the email on the ONHS Facebook page. Since then, the post has received 3400 likes, 206 comments and 1241 shares.

"I just thought the boys would get a "pat on the back." I thought they deserved it. Never in a million years did I think it would be shared on Facebook so many times. I am humbled that a quick email has reached so many people," Forner wrote in a message to the Kalihwisaks.

ONHS junior Evan Danforth was the first Thunderhawk to pass the ball to Austin, the Coleman player with the buzzer beater.

"I got the rebound, passed it back out to him, then he shot again, he kept on reshooting," said Danforth. "The last few seconds he shot it and he made it for three-point buzzer beater, and everybody in the crowd cheered for him ... It felt good to give him the ball."

which will protect the integrity and sovereignty of the Tribe, and;

- Preserve the Nation's solvency;
- Maintain a balanced budget;
- Preserve the Oneida Nation's core services; and
- Ensure there is reliable communication.

If the partial shutdown lingers into February, the Oneida Business Committee will most likely consider a Resolution that will put the Nation in cost containment.

Indian Health Services (IHS):

The Oneida Nation's Comprehensive Health Division provides medical services, mental & behavioral health services, preventive health services, environmental health services, facilities, administration, and home & community-based services to approximately 14,182 clients.

Currently, the Comprehensive Health Division is relying on carry-over funds, third-party reimbursements and IHS funding received in mid-December as part of the 1st FY 2019 Continuing Resolution. These funds have allowed the Comprehensive Health Division to operate at full capacity during the shutdown, but once some of these funding sources are depleted (approximately around mid-March) the Oneida Nation will need to decide if health services will be scaled back. Going into March, a continuation of the shutdown will impose a financial burden on the Tribe to try to identify alternative funding resources whether through Tribal funds, loans or other means without any assurances that we will be reimbursed for our expenditures. The last time a shutdown occurred Tribes were not reimbursed for these expenses.

Not only will the Oneida Nation see a financial impact from the shutdown but it will also endure an operational impact.

Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA):

The Oneida Nation has a Self-Governance compact and funding agreement with the US Department of Interior. This agreement identifies what programs, services, functions, or activities (PSFAs) the Tribe has reclaimed responsibility over. The BIA provides approximately $1.5 million to aid in the operations of these PSFAs. Although the Oneida Nation is extremely underfunded when it comes to operational costs associated with the PSFAs, approximately 80% underfunded, the funds received for these PSFAs aid in providing essential core governmental programs and services, which include but are not limited to police services, social services (child care and food distribution), educational services (Headstart), housing services (heating assistance), Indian child welfare, environmental quality, environmental health & safety, and welfare assistance. The abrupt disruption of our governmental functions means the shutdown is putting the health and welfare of our community and our members at risk and impeding our economic development potential.

Typically, when BIA funding is received, it is used in the beginning of year to aid in the start of certain projects. Once the BIA funding runs out, Tribal resources are used to cover the shortfall in operational costs. Because of the shutdown, Tribal resources are being used now; however, there is no insight on if, and when, BIA funding will be made available or if the costs associated with finding alternative resources will be reimbursed. Because of the lack of stability and uncertainty, some projects may be delayed or terminated.

The Oneida Nation works closely with federal staff on a daily basis when providing programs and services. During the shutdown, federal staff can only perform certain administrative and oversight functions. They cannot work on National policy development/issuance, training, some oversight functions.

The Oneida Nation has already felt the impact of this in that the Tribe was in the midst of negotiating new funding agreements cannot move forward as federal staff are not available. In addition, meetings and consultations are not happening because of absent federal staff. The Oneida Nation is an avid participant in these meetings as these meetings are important tools to educate IHS and the federal government on the needs of Indian people and tribal nations. Delaying these meetings will delay important changes needed to improve the health and welfare of Indian people

As a sovereign nation we have agreements between the Oneida Nation and the US government that have been established by treaty. Our treaties guarantee certain rights are protected and respected by the US government. Within the auspices of treaties are funds for services that provide healthcare, education and resources for environmental protection and preservation.

The Oneida Business Committee and our executive staff will continue to monitor and maintain our updates to our citizens, employees and our clientele as much as possible.

Yaw^ko for your continued attention to this very important matter. If you are interested in contacting the Wisconsin Legislature, click here for contact info. You may send them a simple sentence asking them to please end the shutdown.

ment to find out how this scholarship might be better used or where a need exists.”

The Higher Education Department and Webster identified a need and decided the funds would be perfectly suited to help students get a second chance at higher education who may not have made the most of their opportunity the first time around. “There are students out there who went to school but didn’t take it seriously but are now a little more mature,” Webster said. “My father always said ‘if I knew then what I know now’ so I think this renewed purpose for the scholarship is something that reflects how my father felt about our people, about himself, and life in general. As you get older you mature and have a better understanding and focus in your life.”

The Higher Education Department is in the midst of a pilot program testing the effectiveness of this revamped scholarship. “This fall semester we looked for a student who was not eligible for our Higher Education funding due to poor academic progress,” Higher Education Manager

Mitch Metoxen said. “So, by gaining back good academic progress the student would once again be eligible for federal student aid and gain back eligibility for the Oneida Higher Education Grant. We worked with Northeast Wisconsin Technical College (NWTC) and funded one student for six credits this past fall term and it was successful. That student is now back in good standing for federal funding and our Higher Education Grant.”

Now that the pilot program has so far proven to be effective, the Higher Education Department is looking at other sources of revenue to keep the scholarship replenished as well as expanding the program beyond just NWTC. “The program requires constant monitoring of the student’s progress,” Higher Education Advisor Sherry King said. “The advantages of working with NWTC on this is they already have these types of services available for returning students and they’re pretty flexible with the regulations. So, in the future hopefully we can expand this to include other local schools like Fox Valley Technical College and possibly the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.”

“This is exciting,” Metoxen said. “This is something we’ve never done before but it’s going to take a lot of work over the next year to learn how NWTC is doing this since we want to expand the program. Right now we’re working on that as well as finding future students to fund for this coming spring term or next fall.”

Three decades after its inception, the Purcell Powless Scholarship has found new life and is once again helping Oneidas achieve their academic dreams. “My father was a great visionary,” Webster said. “He realized that people, given the chance, will grow up and make better decisions. He was compassionate for our people and our future generations. For some people that’s just rhetoric but for him it was ‘put your money where your mouth is.’ We want people to benefit from the Purcell Powless Scholarship and know who he was. We want people to know the legacy he left not just for the family but the Oneida Nation. His values and ethics will never go by the wayside.”

Federal agency to investigate alleged school discrimination

HELENA, Mont. (AP) ~ Federal education officials have agreed to investigate a complaint by the Fort Peck tribes alleging the Wolf Point School District in Montana discriminates against Native American students.

The tribes filed their complaint in June 2017 alleging Native American students were subjected to more severe discipline for misconduct, were more often placed in the district’s learning and behavioral program and were not properly evaluated for or did not receive special education services.

The Office for Civil Rights in Seattle announced its investigation on Dec. 28, hours after The New York Times and ProPublica published a story investigating the discrimination alleged in the 18-month-old complaint.

The agency in January 2018 opened investigations into complaints over discipline and retaliation against the school district. The district’s attorney did not immediately return a phone message seeking details of those complaints.

Sex Trafficking Awareness Month Programs hosted by WWGP

Wise Women
Gathering Place

Peace • Respect • Belonging

Ashwaubenon, Wisconsin ~ January is Sex Trafficking Awareness Month, and Wise Women Gathering Place (WWGP) is hosting several events to help bring attention to the cause in the Oneida/Green Bay Community.

Simply put—sex trafficking is modern day slavery.

Sex trafficking occurs when someone uses force, fraud or coercion to cause a commercial sex act with an adult or causes a minor to commit a commercial sex act. A commercial sex act includes prostitution, pornography and sexual performance done in exchange for any item of value such as money, shelter, food, or clothes. (Source: www.shared-hope.org) Although it's not a new issue, it's been brought to light in more recent years. More statistics have become available the more we know and learn about it. Sex trafficking has been reported in all 72 of Wisconsin's counties, including Brown and Outagamie Counties.

Sexual Assault Program Specialist and advocate at Wise Women Gathering Place, Jessica Adams works with victims of sex trafficking and has been part of a Sex Trafficking "Task Force" with the Family Services' Sexual Assault Center in Green Bay. This month, Adams is collaborating with other agencies bring awareness and education to the community.

Friday, January 25, Joshua Beaton, Outreach Coordinator from UMOs will do an Anti-Trafficking Training session for providers at WWGP, and then another session at WWGP's Middle School Wise Youth program. Prevention and early education is a key to ending the epidemic, as the most common age a child enters sex trafficking is 14-16 (Source: www.shared-hope.org).

A program for the public is Wednesday, January 30 at the WWGP Advocacy and Healing Building (2615 S. Packerland Dr. Suite A) from 5:30-7:30pm, WWGP will host a short film and discussion called "Innocence Sold," an original film project from the Fox Valley nonprofit organization, 5-stones. The purpose of the film, 5-stones states, is they hope "through the films you are able to gain a better understanding of Human Sex Trafficking." During the conversation, WWGP founder and director, Alice Skenandore, will speak about some reasons Native American women and children are victimized by human trafficking at rates higher than that of the general population.

To learn more about sex trafficking in the native community, Adams, along with two advocates from the Sexual Assault Center in Green Bay, will attend: "Recognition and Response to Child Sex Trafficking in Tribal Casinos Specialized Training" in Harris, MI January 16.

If you or someone you know is a victim of sexual assault or sex trafficking, you can request help from Family Services' Sexual Assault Center, (920) 436-8899, National Human Trafficking Hotline, (888)373-7888 or text "Help" to 233733, or call Wise Women Gathering Place to set up an appointment at (920) 490-0627. research by providing different research applications."

CMN's experience with "Tiny Earth" reflects the initiative's mission of creating a network of instructors and students "focused on crowdsourcing antibiotic discovery from soil"; inspiring students to pursue careers in science through hands-on introductory courses and lab experiences with real-world applications; and addressing the diminishing supply of effective antibiotics "by tapping into the collective power of many student researchers concurrently tackling the same challenge, living up to its motto 'studentsourcing antibiotic discovery'."

The Wisconsin event, labeled "Tiny Earth in Titledown," was held in Green Bay's Lambeau Field facilities. The base for the international "Tiny Earth" initiative is the Wisconsin Institute for Discovery on the UW-Madison campus. Shekoli & Hoyan!

The transition from an old year to a new one allows time for reflection, reprioritizing and rejuvenation. For some it could mean resolving to improve our physical, emotional, mental and spiritual health as all of this allows us to be present and open to those around us. The Midwinter Ceremonies recently concluded, and this was an opportunity to come together and give thanks to Mother Earth and the Creator as well as the time to renew responsibilities for the year ahead. I'm excited for what this new year will bring. I wish you and your family health, happiness and prosperity in 2019!

All visitors to the building will require an escort to and from their destination within the building. The personal safety of students, employees, and visitors to the Norbert Hill Center is paramount and this will also protect the Nation's assets, including equipment and information housed at this location. The open-door policy still stands true with each elected official, should they be available to meet. The only thing that changes is that they or their staff will come down to greet you and walk with you to and from the reception area. Nobody will be able to walk the building freely. This is a change and it will take some time to get used to, but it is for the safety of our children and employees in the building.

Recently the Oneida community came together to provide gifts to families in need through the Social Services Giving Tree program. Over 450 Oneida children received gifts over the holidays because of the generosity of so many individuals, departments and organizations. The generosity of our community will remain especially important as the partial government shut-down continues. Some of the most vulnerable populations will be affected as Food Share programs across the Nation will not be issuing benefits in February. If you are able, please consider giving to your local food pantry to assist those who are being affected by the limitations in services and if you are in need, reach out to your local pantry. One way to donate is at our upcoming General Tribal Council (GTC) meetings.

For those of you who visit the Norbert Hill Center, you will notice some new protocols this year.

The GTC has two meetings this month, January 21st and January 31st and Oneida's Emergency Food Pantry will be accepting non-perishable donations at both meetings. I appreciate the citizens who actively participate in our government. Yawakó! I realize with 17,000 enrolled members all around the globe, not everyone is able to attend; however, I challenge those who are able and who have not attended previously or have not attended for a while to put attending the GTC meetings on your list of resolutions for 2019. A government is only as strong as its people and your involvement is critical to our success. If you are unable to attend but have some questions or solutions to anything on the agenda, please do not hesitate to reach out to any of the OBC members. We are always happy to assist and answer questions as your elected leaders.

The January 31st meeting is Oneida Nation's Annual GTC meeting at which time I will deliver the State of the Nation's address to General Tribal Council. This is a chance to inform membership on the state of our nation. In other good news, on behalf of Oneida Nation I will deliver the 15th Annual State of the Tribes Address (SOTA) at the State Capitol, in Madison this spring. I am honored to represent our eleven nations before the State of Wisconsin. The date for the address has not been determined but it is likely going to be in March or April. My office will keep the membership informed of the date, as the SOTA will be aired.

Wishing you a peaceful and healthy 2019!

*Yawakó· Be well and treat one another well.

Council Forum

Daniel Guzman-King
Councilman

Shekoli Swakwek,

Hoyan! Greetings to you all in this new year. A new year is a time of renewal, starting over, and of reflection. It is good to take time to reflect on our lives, our nation, what was done, what was not done, and so forth. It is a good time refocus, set goals, and make plans for future days. It is also a great time for change, trying new things, or doing things differently.

When I review this past year in office, I ask myself... "What can we stop doing or do differently? What beliefs, attitudes, behaviors, policies, or procedures do not serve us well? How can we be more efficient and effective in what we are doing? How are we moving forward and progressing as a nation? How can we exercise our sovereignty more?? I encourage each one of us to take that time to reflect and assess how we are not only making a better life ourselves and our families but for the nation and future generations.

One noted change that many people have identified is the Petition Process. We have had numerous petitioners request more time to get their materials submitted within the allotted timeframe. The 120 day timeframe to hear petitions also puts unnecessary constraints and costs on the organization to produce meeting materials. We will be presenting several proposed changes to the Petition Process that will include and benefit all entities of the nation. Voting yes for these proposed changes will cause us to more efficient and effective as a nation. Please take the time to review your GTC packet meeting materials for this upcoming meeting on January 21, 2019.

I am taking a couple of days off this week to attend the Indigenous People's March in Washington D.C., which will take place on January 18, 2019. Many natives and organizations will be gathering together to protest and advocate for Indigenous rights, treaty rights, environmental protection and our right to clean water, land, and air, among many other issues. We hope to influence U.S. legislators and the president to end this government shutdown as it has an incredible impact on tribal nations across the country. Contact your state legislators and let them know how this government shutdown affects your services that you receive.

May you all have good health and happiness throughout the year!

The removal of duct insulation, pipe elbow insulation, pipe lagging insulation, ceiling tiles, floor tile and adhesives, transite board, window caulk and boiler gaskets occurred during these abatement projects; The 2nd floor law offices were abated for asbestos. The 3rd floor offices and hallway, and windows in the cannery were abated on 6/15/ 09 to 12/8/09. The 3rd floor offices and hallway, and windows in the cannery were abated on 6/15/ 09 to 12/8/09. The removal of duct insulation, pipe elbow insulation, pipe lagging insulation, floor tile and adhesives, and window caulk were abated for asbestos in both these areas. There were no asbestos abatement activities from 2010 through 2015.

There was an asbestos window abatement project from August 15, 2016 to November 8, 2016 & June 21, 2017 to August 16, 2017, at the Norbert Hill Center/Oneida Nation High School. All windows were removed and replaced except for the 6000 area, Higher Education; and the 3000 area, Business Committee meeting room. The windows were removed from the outside of the building. All engineering controls were in place. Waste manifest documents were received from the abatement con-praised Danforth for his sportsmanship.

"I think it's big that he took it upon himself and did it himself. I didn't tell him to do it," said Tek Skenandore. "I think it speaks huge to his character, just for him recognizing that he went out of his way to help this kid out."

Forner shared the story in part because of negative situations she's witnessed at other games.

"I have seen refs call Austin for traveling or opponents steal the ball from Austin and it is always frustrating," she wrote. "Austin goes to every practice and works hard and does not see much playing time. He still has a positive attitude and a smile on his face. When he is on the court, the game turns into something way more meaningful than a win."

THUNDERHAWK TIMES

T-Hawks recognized for M&O sportsmanship

By Denis Gullickson
Thunderhawk Times
Advisor

Principals and Athletic Directors are used to getting calls or emails from other schools or parents from other teams about some incident or another. Usually, it's a complaint.

Not so, the email ONHS principal and AD, Art Skenandore, received on Wednesday, January 9. It came from Coleman parent, Leah Forner, who was at the previous evening's game between the T-Hawk boys and Coleman Cougars.

"I wanted to give you some positive feedback to something I witnessed," began Ms. Forner. She went on to describe an incident involving a Coleman JV player with autism, who, at the end of the game "gets a short amount of playing time and all of our boys try to get him the ball."

But it turns out, it wasn't just the Coleman players teammates that supported the Coleman player.

The "Oneida boys sensed what was happening," added Ms. Forner "and also allowed this student to have the ball. This student was able to make a basket right at the buzzer. Not only did our fan section stand and cheer, but your fan section also stood and cheered for him."

And then, she added words that would make any Thunderhawk fan proud. "Throughout our conference," said Ms. Forner, I have only seen this happen at your school. The smile on the student's face was priceless. Way to go Oneida!"

Clearly, Head Coach Jamison King and Assistants Tek Skenandore and Joe Rainey are teaching their players more than just basketball skills. They are also teaching character.

That would be remarkable on its own, but a similar incident occurred in a Lady T-Hawks JV contest just a few days prior against the Wausaukee Rangers.

Head Coach Jamie Betters gave Assistant Varsity and Head JV Coach, Lee Laster, a nod as she described that incident, which "no other team has done for Wausaukee."

According to Coach Betters, "Wausaukee had a young player who never scored before and she didn't really get much playing time. She suits up and practices not to compete but to be on a team."

At some point, Coach Laster got the Wausaukee coach's attention and asked if the Wausaukee player had ever scored. The Wausaukee coach said she had not.

"Well, let's make it happen," said Laster.

So, the ONHS JV players gave the Wausaukee player the ball and she shot until she made a basket.

"I was in the locker room with the Varsity girls when it happened," said Coach Betters,

"And we thought, maybe Wausaukee was coming back, but it was quite the contrary."

Instead, the Wausaukee and Oneida fans together were applauding the Ranger players' basket.

"This is why we do what we do," said Betters. "It's not just about playing the game. That young lady will remember that forever as well as her family and that is what we intend to do, leave lasting positive impressions on those we play. We heard so much from Wausaukee fans after our game about how much sportsmanship our teams have, but we are not surprised. This is what we do and who we are! Good Stuff Lee and JV Ladies!"

And "Good Stuff" Oneida players, coaches and fans.

Oneida is quickly developing a reputation in the M&O Conference for tough ball playing and exceptional sportsmanship.

Community service requirement

By Thunderhawk
Times Staff

A recent addition to the graduation requirements at ONHS has been the Community Service Requirement.

That means that, besides the 23.5 academic credits required, graduating seniors must have a minimum of 20 hours of community service recorded by the end of their senior year.

This requirement was added, according to the student handbook, because the Oneida School System "recognizes that service learning can help students develop skills, career awareness and self-esteem."

The handbook continues, saying that service experiences "can also motivate students by allowing them to apply their skills and knowledge to local needs and challenges and showing students to discover how they can make a contribution to their community, by being a part of the solution."

The school board also supports "the integration of service learning activities within the existing curriculum to enhance the relevance of student instruction ... while meeting standards in all subject areas."

Because of ONHS's unique position in the Oneida Community, close to many tribal enterprises and departments, the school board also "encourages staff to collaborate with Tribal agencies and program, as well as local public and nonprofit agencies that sponsor community service functions."

The requirement begins with incoming freshmen for the 2018.

My Scoop

These are the moments

By Charlene Peters
and Natavia Adams
Thunderhawk Times

One thing that has caught my attention is Time.

Time is some people's enemy and other people's blessing.

Time is constantly changing things, in a second, a minute, and hour. A single moment can change forever, and time is constantly moving forward.

Seniors are preparing for graduation, 8th graders are hyping to start high school and juniors are getting ready for senior year — the last year of their time in high school.

Time has an effect on everyone's life: People grow older, new life is made and everything is evolving.

These are the moments that everyone looks forward to. Parents focus on their kids as this may be the last time they have until their child(ren) go off to college.

Teachers take the time to help their students move higher in life and moving on past reservation.

Deer hunting season

By Justin Hill
Thunderhawk Times

Everyone's familiar with Wisconsin's nine day gun deer season, which takes place every year around Thanksgiving time. The dates for this year's season was November 17th - 25th.

But few people know that there are other deer hunting seasons or when they take place.

Bow hunters, for example, begin their annual hunt on September 1 and their season sadly has to end on January 31st.

There is also a musket, muzzleloader or also known as black powder season that ran from November 23 until Sunday January 6.

No one really knows the true beauty of hunting until you're actually out there admiring the landscape and the horizon. Or just the snow laying on the forest floor and everything is just quiet and peaceful.

Lady Thunderhawks breaking new ground

By Arianna Two Crow
Thunderhawk Times

Halfway through their season, Oneida's Lady T-Hawks have broken new ground in the school's history. With an undefeated record of 13-0, as of this writing, they are leading the M&O Conference.

But it gets better than that. They are also ranked 5th in state.

The girls on the team say that one of their strengths is "playing as a team," so individual stars aren't a point of emphasis. However, several of the Lady T-Hawks have made a name for themselves in the M&O Conference.

The Oneida Community is getting excited too. Large numbers of fans have turned out for home and away games.

With the Lady T-Hawks playing at the top of their game, going deep into the playoffs is very likely.

A Division-5 State Championship would make this team one to remember in school history.

Global warming

By Ottawa M. Brown
Thunderhawk Times

Ever since the years have proceeded into eternal use of fossil fuels, many important details have begun to surface for the horrible future to come.

First off, we are beginning to have shorter winters because of the heavy use of carbon dioxide in the air, we continue to pollute the air into an unsafe environment where we need masks to wear at some parts of the world.

Another global warming danger is that it had snowed on the hottest part of the desert in Ain Sefra, over here it is said that over the past 40 years it had begun to snow in this unusual place because of weather change and climate change.

Many people don't realize that keeping this unnatural cause up will trigger many harmful chemicals we could inhale, slowly killing us as the carbon increases throughout the whole ozone layer.

One way we can prevent this is by using alternative method such as using electric cars and solar panels to make our stay a little longer on earth.

Mexico vacation fantástico

By Sylvia Hernandez
Thunderhawk Times

Mexico has been in the news a lot lately. Mexico was going to pay for the wall that President Trump wants to build on our southern border. News Flash: Mexico isn't going to pay for the wall.

Our family took a vacation to Mexico over the holidays and it was great. I was happy that we went because I have not seen my family there for four years and it was nice seeing them.

One of the things that caught my eye down there was how everyone or mostly everyone is so respectful and caring.

Also, throughout my entire trip, I only saw one scorpion!

Achieve3000

By Talon McLester
Thunderhawk Times

The website says, "Achieve3000 provides the only patented, cloud-based solutions that deliver daily differentiated instruction for nonfiction reading and writing that are precisely tailored to each student's Lexile reading level."

The way I see it, Achieve3000 is something that most kids at ONHS don't really like that well.

In my opinion, the articles that I read are for the most part interesting to me and the questions are fairly easy except for some that are tricky.

I think the program is helpful for kids, because when I read the articles I learn new words; some even let you click on them to see the definition.

Maybe to get more people excited about Achieve, there could be a reward if you reach a certain amount of points. This might help, since most kids aren't that excited about doing them due to the time it takes to read the article and then answer the questions that go along with it.

Fortnite popular

By Talon McLester
Thunderhawk Times

In the gaming world, Fortnite is a very popular game with over 78.3 million daily users. Fortnite is a free battle royale game where you fight against other players for the victory.

They have different cosmetics in the game that you can buy, like skins, pickaxes, etc. Even though it's free to play the game, the company raked in around 1.2 billion dollars in the past year or so.

A lot of my friends, including me, play the game sometimes and it's pretty fun. I'm not sure on how long the game will be this popular because it's kind of addicting and it's free to play.

State lawmaker proposes ways to solve Native American crimes

BISMARCK, N.D. (AP) – The first female Native American Democrat elected to the North Dakota state Legislature has proposed two bills intended to help resolve crimes against indigenous people.

Rep. Ruth Buffalo recommended two legislative measures that would require more law enforcement training and data collection related to missing and murdered Native Americans, The Bismarck Tribune reported.

The bills are a follow-up to Savanna's Act, a proposal introduced by former North Dakota Sen. Heidi Heitkamp in 2017. Heitkamp's bill passed unanimously in the state, but ultimately stalled in the House.

Buffalo said the training would be made available across jurisdictions, including for tribal law enforcement.

"It's unfortunate that it takes tragedy to sometimes bring people together to fix the gaps that exist," Buffalo said Tuesday. "Through raising awareness, we're hoping to prevent further cases from occurring."

Scott Davis, Executive Director of the North Dakota Indian Affairs Commission, said the two proposals are essential to helping law enforcement cultivate methods to respond to missing person cases, in addition to developing data tracking mechanisms.

"I think that her bills are very, very important for all agencies to look at," Davis said.

Matthew Lone Bear, the brother of Olivia Lone Bear, who vanished in 2017 on the Fort Berthold Reservation and was found deceased nearly a year later, called the proposed legislative measures a step in the right direction.

"Law enforcement doesn't treat these issues with urgency. Olivia was missing for six, seven days before law enforcement even started asking questions," he said. "I think having more training on that would definitely help."

Oneida Scholars—Cervical Cancer Screening and Prevention with Amanda Bruegl, MD MS

Amanda Bruegl, MD MS

A year ago, the Community Education Center introduced Oneida Scholars, in collaboration with Education & Training and Oneida Higher Education. This series features Oneida professionals in a myriad of career and educational paths. We've hosted literary, technology, and culinary scholars from Wisconsin to New York. We are very excited to see this program grow.

On February 14, 2019 the Community Education Center is hosting the newest addition to the Oneida Scholar repertoire, Amanda Bruegl, MD MS. She is Oneida and Stockbridge-Munsee and works as an Assistant Professor in Gynecologic Oncology (women's pelvic cancer specialist) at Oregon Health and Science University in Portland, Oregon. She is also the Director of Tribal Engagement for the Northwest Native American Center of Excellence at the OHSU School of Medicine.

Dr. Bruegl spoke to her educational success as a "powerful driver," with the expectation that she would pursue higher education. "When I was young . . . [the question] wasn't if I would go. It was where I would go." She faced a myriad of difficulties in college, including the intimidation factor of being surrounded by smart and driven individuals; however, one of the biggest challenges was culture shock.

Dr. Bruegl grew up in a small town of about 1,200 people. Her college campus had upwards of 40,000 students. Her trips back home were long, with long drives or airline travel. This did not deter her. Dr. Bruegl had to work throughout college, making the balancing act between school and paying bills difficult. What she found most trying was locating a community, a group of people that made the huge campus seem smaller and more like a home. She found this in the American Indian Science and Engineering Society (AISES). Bruegl believes that, without finding this organization, she would have had a notably less positive time at school.

Community has been integral for Dr. Bruegl. The central part of her mission continues to be helping Native American women, and she has stayed true to this. Dr. Bruegl serves on a national committee for the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists that specializes in Indigenous Women's health. Dr. Bruegl also does research on gynecologic cancer preventions of Native women. Her research examines why Native women have one and a half times the rate of cervical cancer and twice the rate of death from cervical cancer when the disease can be prevented by a pap smear and an HPV vaccine.

With this passion, Dr. Amanda Bruegl comes to the Oneida Nation Community Education Center from Portland, Oregon to provide a community presentation on February 14 at 5:30 p.m. She will provide updates on cervical cancer screening guidelines, HPV vaccination, review general screening guidelines, and special guidelines for patients with HIV. We cordially invite all community to delve into this great learning opportunity. Register online at oneidacommunityeducationcenter.org.

Announcer loses job after talk about Native American player

PHILADELPHIA (AP) ~ A public address announcer has lost his job over a remark about a Native American player during a lacrosse game that he and the Philadelphia team called "insensitive."

The Philadelphia Wings said announcer Shawny Hill had been "permanently removed" from his role with the team and suspended from assignments at the Wells Fargo Center.

Georgia Swarm forward Lyle Thompson, of the Onondaga Reservation in central New York, said Hill said "Let's snip the pony tail" during Saturday night's game and fans then began to shout calls to "scalp" him. Hill said his words weren't "racially motivated" but reflected a lack of knowledge of heritage and history.

The team vowed diversity training for all employees to include a focus on "the Native North American roots and traditions of the sport."

Theater Project at College of Menominee Nation Wins Packers Foundation Arts and Culture Grant

College of Menominee Nation Professor Ryan Winn and CMN alumna Melinda Cook represented the Menominee Theater Project at recent Packers Foundation grant award ceremonies in the Lambeau Field atrium. Cook, the College's Chief of Staff, has worked with the Menominee summer pageant revival project since it began in 2015.

Keshena, WI ~ "Revival" takes on new meaning for the Menominee Theater Project thanks to a $5,000 grant from the Green Bay Packers Foundation.

The award, announced in December ceremonies at the Lambeau Field atrium, will help keep impetus going on summer presentations that reprise traditional Menominee pageants that were staged on the Reservation from the 1935 through 1970. The new grant-funded emphasis will encourage not only pageants as retrospective experiences, but also a renewal of scriptwriting as proactive storytelling.

Professor Ryan Winn of the College of Menominee Nation has led the pageant revival effort since 2015 when tribal elders asked his assistance in bringing the summer performances back to Keshena's Woodland Bowl.

With CMN students, staff and alumni, and community volunteers, the Menominee Theater Project has been locating scripts and documents from the original pageants. While building this new, permanent archive, they have re-scripted and restaged them in free, public shows in August of 2016, 2017 and 2018.

"Often descendants of the original cast and crew are now filling roles their ancestors originated, and the annual response has been overwhelmingly positive," Winn says. "Each year we draw a larger crowd, and we're seeing tribal communities from across the state bus-ing groups to Keshena for the pageants."

"We need to remember that Menominee Theatrical Pageants were not created to simply be time capsules preserving the past," Winn adds, "but rather a way for the community to use art to celebrate the endurance of Menominee lifeways. Certainly the shows we have revived from the past are effective at reminding and educating the community about what once was. What we would like to see now is new shows that help revive the creative process of traditional storytelling through script writing for theater."

Additional funds like the Packers Foundation grant will help make the revival of scriptwriting possible for the summer pageant series. But of equal importance, the Menominee Theater Project hopes the newly-funded effort will have long-term results and, as Winn says, "encourage the Menominee community to renew its tradition of storytelling via scripts for performance, and in this way revive a truly living art form."

The August 2019 performance at Woodland Bowl may be based on a new script or one of the two surviving pageant scripts that have not yet been revived. Selection of the show will take place in May and auditions scheduled in June. Rehearsals continue through summer until the August performance.

Whether making its debut in 2019 or with the 2020 pageant, an entirely new pageant script will be the first of its kind from Menominee storytellers in over 50 years.

Oneida Cultural Heritage

A GOOD MIND. A GOOD HEART. A STRONG FIRE.

Indigenous Diet and Healing

Project Synopsis

The Oneida Cultural Heritage Department received a 3-year grant from the Centers For Disease control (CDC) - Tribal Practices in Indian Country to implement a community project on Indigenous Diet and Healing. The purpose of this project is to reconnect tribal members and their families with our traditional Haudenosaunee food systems to have a positive impact on their health and wellbeing. The project seeks to create dialogue about – and expansion of– traditional, cultural food knowledge, targeting individuals, families, and the community.

The project will target up to 12 families and utilize a holistic approach to increase the overall health and wellness of community members participating in the program. In order to address the strategies and outcomes, they will implement a four-pronged education project focused on our traditional Haudenosaunee diet. Aligning with the required grant strategies, the project will:

- 1) Teach community members how to grow and harvest Indigenous foods, including wild foods;
- 2) Teach community members

how to preserve and prepare the foods they have harvested;

- 3) Educate community members on the nutrition and health benefits of Indigenous foods; and

- 4) Provide cultural teachings and relevant Oneida language words on Indigenous food systems.

Families involved in the meet bi-weekly and follow a timeline of activities that is aligned with our traditional seasonal food systems. Each year a new group of families will join the project to increase the number of community members that are engaging in healthy Indigenous food practices. Families from the previous years will be invited to continue to participate and act as mentors.

Little League International to Ban Racially Offensive Team Names and Mascots

WASHINGTON, D.C. ~ The National Congress of American Indians (NCAI) is applauding a decision by Little League® International (the governing body of all global Little League-affiliated leagues and teams) to institute a new official policy in its 2019 Rulebook prohibiting the use of “racially insensitive, derogatory or discriminatory” team names and mascots, which NCAI has confirmed includes offensive Native “themed” names and mascots that cause significant harm to Native people.

The new rule, which applies to all Little League® International divisions under its “Operational Policies” Code, reads as follows: “Little League prohibits the use of team names, mascots, nicknames or logos that are racially insensitive, derogatory or discriminatory in nature. Little League requires all chartered local league programs, volunteers as well as regular employees to comply with the policies outlined above. Disciplinary action to address violations of the policies outlined above will be determined in the sole discretion of either the Charter Committee or Little League management, as applicable.”

“We commend Little League International for taking this important step to stand on the right side of history, and we welcome the news that it is already hard at work ensuring that all of its affiliated leagues and teams promptly comply with this new edict of respect for Native people and other communities of color,” said NCAI President Jefferson Keel. “Little League International molds not just the athletic talents but also the minds of so many young people across America, so its new rule will go a long way towards fostering greater understanding of our common humanity and the diversity that makes this country great.”

Little League® International’s new rule follows on the heels of Major League Baseball’s historic decision to retire the offensive “Chief Wahoo” mascot of its Cleveland franchise in January 2018.

Tsyunhéhkwa Farm Winter Update

By Sylvia Cornelius, MS
Eco Services
Department Manager

Shekóli Oneida Community,

Tsyunhéhkwa Farm has had a very busy summer and fall! We are currently finishing picking and shelling corn to fill Cannery orders. A big Thank You to the community that attended Harvest Fest and Employee Cultural Education Days to assist with this year's abundant harvest. This season we had over 1300 volunteers from the Nation's employees, community and the surrounding communities helping with harvesting activities. We delivered white corn to the Cannery in December for processing orders to Oneida departments, which is earlier than ever! The past practice was that white corn was not available at all until the end of January.

Harvest was slow but completed on January 10. The corn came off the field at 18% moisture with very little to no mold or damage. The agricultural staff will continue to make sure the Tsyunhéhkwa white corn crop is safely stored and cared for.

Our white corn plans this year includes a donation to Oneida Longhouse for use in ceremonies and raw corn sales. Raw white corn will be available for purchase after January 15, 2019 at the Oneida Market. White corn sales at Farm start on January 21, 2019. We have a new policy in place of No cash sales at the farm so be sure to get a money order from the bank or use your checking. We are looking into getting a card reader set up for sales soon. White corn will be sold at $5.00 per pounds with a limit of 10 pounds.

Tsyunhéhkwa Farm produced/shelled nearly 600 pounds of raw corn for delivery to the cannery for processing into products in December and January. As soon as harvesting of corn is complete we will be shelling 200 pounds per week for the cannery to meet their processing needs.

Remember white corn direct from the farm is raw and unprocessed that requires a long and intensive cooking procedure. The Cannery is a separate department from the farm and their processed products (including dehydrated white corn) are available through them and Oneida Retail locations. They are offering a white corn hulling cooking class on January 17.

Ask your clan representative if you are cooking white corn for your clan for longhouse. Kaluhya (Stephanie) Muscavitch VanEvery is the contact for Turtle Clan and Ka-nataloaks Zacarias Skeandore is the contact for Wolf and Bear Clans. Call your delegate or Tsyunhéhkwa Farm if you need contact information.

We will still be shelling until about April. At that time, we will report a total weight for Fall 2018 harvest to the community. Tsyunhéhkwa Farm will lead a discussion on Status and Winter responsibilities of the white corn on January 26th from 10am-12pm.

We appreciate all your support as we continue to improve and refine our program and services.

Tsyunhéhkwa Farm Staffing Update

Above, Lynn Utesch, volunteered for many years at Tsyunhéhkwa, now employed at Tsyunhéhkwa as an Agriculture Worker 2.

We are pleased to welcome Lynn Utesch as the new Agriculture Worker 2 at Tsyunhéhkwa Farm hired in October. Lynn lives in Kewaunee where he owns and operates Guardians of the Field Farm, raising 100% grass fed beef, with his herd of shorthorn cattle, utilizing rotational grazing methods on 150 acres. Lynn and his wife Nancy have five children. For the past 25 years Lynn has been active in continuing education and events highlighting sustainable farming practices, animal husbandry, and protection of our natural resources, most notably water, at both state and local levels. Guardians of the Field Farm has hosted several educational events and presentations, pasture walks, and farm to fork dinners supporting local organic farmers and their products. Having volunteered at Tsyunhéhkwa Farm for years, Lynn is excited to bring both his farm knowledge and experience to benefit the Oneida Nation. We are very fortunate to have Lynn's dedication, work ethic and experience at Tsyunhéhkwa Farm. If you see Lynn at the farm be sure to welcome him to Oneida.

Tsyunhéhkwa Farms last vacant position of Outreach Worker has been modified to the more professional and useful position of Community Outreach Coordinator. This position is open to Oneida Tribal Members only and will be posted soon for one lucky person. We are looking for an enthusiastic tribal member with excellent organization and writing skills, along with planning and coordinating culture based community outreach. Their main job duties will be to help with administrative duties, and to lead and coordinate all outreach programming, including the community garden at the farm.

Early Detection for Dementia is Important

By Debra Miller
Dementia Care
Specialist

What day is it? Did I pay the electric bill? Why are the keys in the fridge? What is her name? Any of this sound familiar; normal aging or signs of dementia? According to the Alzheimer's Association it may be hard to know the difference between age-related changes and the first signs of dementia, but memory loss that disrupts daily life is not a typical part of aging. Dementia is a slow decline in memory, thinking, and reasoning skills. Early detection is important, treatment may be possible, and you can stay in control of your life. Call and schedule your FREE brain check-up today with Debra Miller Dementia Care Specialist 920 869 4854.

PROTECT*DETECT*REPORT*Tips to prevent fraud*Do's

- Do protect your Medicare Number (on your Medicare card) and your Social Security Number (on your Social Security card). Treat your Medicare card like it's a credit card.
- Do remember that nothing is ever "free." Don't accept offers of money or gifts for free medical care.
- Do ask questions. You have a right to know everything about your medical care including the costs billed to Medicare.
- Do educate yourself about Medicare. Know your rights and know what a provider can and can't bill to Medicare.
- Do use a calendar to record all of your doctor's appointments and what tests or X-rays you get. Then check your Medicare statements carefully to make sure you got each service listed and that all the details are correct. If you spend time in a hospital, make sure the admission date, discharge date, and diagnosis on your bill are correct.
- Do be wary of providers who tell you that the item or service isn't usually covered, but they "know how to bill Medicare" so Medicare will pay.
- Do make sure you understand how a plan works before you join.

- Do always check your pills before you leave the pharmacy to be sure you got the correct medication, including whether it's a brand or generic and the full amount. If you don't get your full prescription, report the problem to the pharmacist.
- Do report suspected instances of fraud.

Don'ts

- Don't allow anyone, except your doctor or other Medicare providers, to review your medical records or recommend services.
- Don't contact your doctor to request a service that you don't need.
- Don't let anyone persuade you to see a doctor for care or services you don't need.
- Don't accept medical supplies from a door-to-door salesman. If someone comes to your door claiming to be from Medicare or Medicaid, remember that Medicare and Medicaid don't send representatives to your home to sell products or services.
- Don't be influenced by certain media advertising about your health. Many television and radio ads don't have your best interest at heart.
- Don't give your Medicare card, Medicare Number, Social Security card, or Social Security Number to anyone except your doctor or people you know should have it.

The Wise-Men's Group is a Fellowship comprised of Native and Non-Native men. The Fellowship is dedicated to healing and supporting all men having difficulties dealing with personal issues in their lives that are, or can be destructive to their wellness. The Wise Men's Fellowship was created by two elders believing all men had a need for support at certain times of their life. There is no age or community restriction to participate in the Fellowship, just your wanting to be a better you.

The Wise Men's core of men is considered elders. As elders, we have various backgrounds of experience we've crossed in our path of life and the pain associated with such. Because of this, we want to share our learning with all men young and old having difficulties with what they're experiencing. The Fellowship encourages members to share not only old, but new experiences they cross paths with, as each day presents new challenges and opportunities. The Fellowship has plenty of camaraderie, like sitting around a pickle barrel. Confidentiality is held in high esteem and stays within our ranks. Native Culture and Spirituality, smudging and tobacco use are forefront to the group. Come and experience our camaraderie or address a struggle you want to lift off your shoulder.

Monitor:

Problems persist at Wisconsin's youth prisons

By Scott Bauer
Associated Press

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Wisconsin's juvenile prisons continue to use pepper spray on young inmates and keep them in solitary confinement for longer than seven days at a time in defiance of a federal court order, according to a report released Monday.

While "significant improvements" have been made in how the Lincoln Hills and Copper Lake prisons operate, "there is still more work to do" to be in compliance with a federal court order, an independent monitor, Teresa Abreu, contends in the report.

The report was filed in federal court in a case brought by the American Civil Liberties Union of Wisconsin and the Juvenile Law Center against the state over conditions at the prisons.

The groups represented inmates who alleged in 2016 that conditions were so bad at the prisons they violated their constitutional rights to live free from cruel and unusual punishment.

The groups signed a deal last year to end the class-action lawsuit. The state agreed to submit to ongoing monitoring at the prisons as part of the agreement and all parties agreed to have the monitoring be done by Abreu, an attorney and prison consultant who previously helped run a juvenile detention center in Cook County, Illinois.

Gov. Tony Evers' spokeswoman, Melissa Baldauff, said the report "confirms the governor's belief that much more must be done to improve safety and wellness for the students and staff at Lincoln Hills." She said Evers looks forward to working with Department of Corrections staff, community advocates, legislators, and local leaders on "bipartisan, common sense solutions."

Karen Lindell, senior attorney at the Juvenile Law Center, said in a statement reacting to the report that while there are "some limited improvements, many alarming and harmful conditions remain."

The report makes clear that the state needs to proceed "quickly" with its plans to remove all inmates from the prisons, said Karyn Rotker, senior staff attorney at the ACLU of Wisconsin.

The court order barred any punitive room confinement to no more than seven days at a time. Abreu found that although the majority of inmates are not confined for longer stretches, not all of the documentation is reliable.

The court order also required a reduction in the use of pepper spray on inmates, but Abreu found that inmates were being sprayed when lesser means could have been used. She recommended directing that spray only be used in life-threatening situations.

Abreu did note that no inmates in their living units were observed in mechanical restraints, which she called a "vast improvement" from what was observed during a visit nine months earlier.

She said the state hasn't complied by making rooms "suicide resistant." She also recommended a number of improvements and said inmate safety welfare checks should be increased to a minimum of every 15 minutes. Last year, taxpayers paid nearly $19 million to settle a case brought by an inmate who suffered brain damage after she tried to hang herself and wasn't checked on for 42 minutes.

Abreu cited a number of ongoing problems, including a lack of meaningful programming for the inmates, staffing shortages that were "serious, chronic, and dangerous," and concerns from staff that they weren't adequately trained or prepared to use alternatives to pepper spray, confinement and restraints as the court order requires.

A federal investigation into Wisconsin's juvenile prisons began more than three years ago although no charges have been announced. There have been a number of lawsuits filed by inmates alleging abuse by prison guards. Last year, the state agreed to pay $18.9 million under a settlement with one former juvenile inmate who suffered brain damage after she tried to hang herself in her cell.

The prisons, which are just north of Irma, are slated to close by 2021 under a restructuring of the system approved last year by the Legislature and then-Gov. Scott Walker. Evers, who defeated Walker, toured the prisons on Friday, fulfilling a campaign promise to go there during his first week in office.

Lady T-Hawks AP ranked for first time in program history

For the first time in school history the Oneida Nation Lady Thunderhawks have received a state Associated Press (AP) #5 ranking and a #7 Wissports ranking in the Division 5 Marinette & Oconto (M&O) Conference.

The Lady T-Hawks are currently in the midst of a perfect 7-0 season (12-0 overall) with a one game conference lead over Wausaukee following their 56-45 road victory over the Rangers on January 3. As the ladies move into the second half of their season, senior Yeliah Rodriguez will look to wrap up her high school career by scoring her 1000th point and have her jersey retired. Her jersey will be hung at the Just a Game Fieldhouse in Wisconsin Dells and she will join Jessica House as the only two Lady Thunderhawks to score 1,000 career points.

In addition to Rodriguez, juniors Sadie Schuman and Malia Jacobs, along with sophomore M'Kenzie Ackley, lead a Lady Thunderhawks squad that has never looked better. "Last year we lost in a heartbreaker to Gillett in overtime during the Regional Championship in front of a packed home crowd," Head Coach Jamie Betters, now in her 10th season at the helm for the Lady T-Hawks, wrote in a recent statement. "We had an amazing year last year that really pushed our ladies to take it further and commit on and off the court. We are incredibly proud of their hard work and the support they get at home is the reason for their success. So much of the credit goes to the parents and families of these ladies."

Team leadership has played a key role in getting the ladies where they are today. "The leadership we've seen from the varsity ladies has been amazing," Assistant Coach Lee Laster said. "Last season we struggled with being able to slow our game down because we were a run-and-gun team looking to score a lot of points fast. Now as teams start catching onto our game plan we've been slowing our game down and running our offense at a more efficient pace. That helps take a lot of game time off the clock.

"The varsity girl's leadership is really starting to show with our younger ladies," Laster said. "Their voice and input is what drove these ladies to start their winning streak. This AP ranking is a good reward for them because they've been working hard to achieve their ultimate goal which is to win the M&O Conference. Right now we're just focusing one game at a time trying to capture every win so we can move into

M&O Regional play."

"Our ladies know this second half of the season is going to be even more challenging," Betters said. "They have to remain humble but continue to bring the intensity. We are taking it one game at a time and enjoying every minute of it. Our eye is on finishing strong."

The ladies will host Gillett on Monday, January 21, before hitting the road to take on Crivitz on Thursday, January 24. The ladies will return home on Saturday, January 26, to square off against Suring.

The Continental Army at Valley Forge

By Josh K. Gerzetch

During the winter of 1777-1778 George Washington and the Continental Army camped at Valley Forge, PA. During the American Revolution, it became too hard to move troops and supplies through the deep winter snow. So, both the British and the Colonial armies would find a place to camp for the winter until spring when the snow began to melt, and they could move their troops and materials more efficiently.

While at Valley Forge this particular winter Washington and his troops began to run dangerously low on supplies, winter clothing, and food. The Army was in such peril that General Washington reported to the Continental Congress on December 23, 1777, that 2,898 of his soldiers were bare-foot and in need of winter provisions. The situation became so bad that the French General Lafayette wrote about that winter that he witnessed many feet and legs that became frozen and that amputation became necessary. The situation became so severe that it is estimated that 25% of General Washington's 11,000 troops deserted or passed on from exposure, lack of food, and sickness.

The shortage of supplies for the Continental Army did not stem from food shortages or lack of materials. The reasons for the army's shortfalls were that the English pound was worth more than the colonial dollar which resulted in the English paying more for the same supplies that Washington and his troops needed so the colonial merchants sold as much as they could to the English to maximize their profits. The main problem was not a shortfall of supplies but a lack of colonial merchants wanting to sell to the colonists who did not pay as much as their British rivals. This became such a problem that Washington wrote to the Continental Congress that his army could only do one of three things: starve, dissolve, or disperse unless it received some aid.

The only people to send aid to Valley Forge were the Oneida and the Tuscarora from the Iroquois Confederacy. The Iroquois kept vast food reserves in storage for emergencies such as drought, flood, or pestilence. This practice enabled them to travel nearly three hundred miles in the dead of winter on foot with snowshoes to deliver about six hundred bushels of corn from their winter stocks. Under the leadership of Oneida Chief Skenandoh, the relief mission arrived in Valley Forge in December of 1777.

To find out more about this and other stories from the Revolutionary War period please attend the History Department's Presentation Series: The Iroquois and the Revolutionary War on Thursday, January 17th from 2:30-4:00 pm at Cottage III of the Social Services Buildings or on Thursday, January 24th from 5:00-6:00 pm at the Oneida Community Library.

Rites of Passage Orientation held

Submitted photo/Eliza Skenandore

Rites of Passage orientation was held last Monday, January 7th at the Library.

There's a new club in town: ANIMEE

The Oneida Community Library recently held the inaugural meeting of the ANIMEE Club! "What does the ANIMEE Club have to do with our culture and why are you telling me this on the Cultural Page of the Kalihwisaks?" you may ask.

This "club" or group isn't meeting just to watch anime, which is a style of animation originating in Japan and is often tied in with Japanese manga, or graphic fiction and Korean mangaka. ANIMEE is actually an acronym where we came up with the ideas we wanted for the group and made it into a word. The club's goal is to be an Animation Network for Illustration, Media, Education, and Encouragement. If it were an acrostic poem, it would read like this:

Animation Network for Illustration,
Media,
Education, and Encouragement.

Exciting! We could have put the word "exciting" in there, too, I suppose, but ANIMEE as an acronym just seemed to be a bit over the top. And we're nothing if not serious about real animation projects with real Native American animators and artists.

That's where the entire community comes in, as we'd like you to be a part of our first project! We plan to animate the Three Sisters story! Yes, one meeting and we already know our goals for encouraging and educating local arts and animators in the art of illustration and media skills, and we have chosen a project, too! We didn't even need to break into committees to come up with all this, so we're excited to have so many of us on the same page! Our goal is to work on a Multiple Animator Project (MAP,) the Three Sisters, and raise awareness of Native American art and animation!

And if you're not an artist or animator but enjoy watching anime, we actually start the meetings with a few episodes of anime, too...you're welcome to join us for that and offer encouragement to our local animators and artists! Hope to see you there!

Let us know if you are aware of teenagers and adults who enjoy making art and would be interested in being a part of this "club." You can reach out to Kymberley. Contact information listed below.
